DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Duvall house is situated on the south side of Pleasant Plains Road, at the end of a lane lined with old hemlock trees. It stands near Burley Creek, north of the Severn. The present Federal style frame structure was built in about 1875 on the site of another house which had burned a few years before. The farm appears on the 1860 and 1878 county maps as owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Merriken. She was the great grandmother of the present owner. The Graveyard located to the west of the house, contains the stones of several family members: Duvalls, Merrikens, and Ridouts among them. The earliest stone dates from about 1850.

The house is a 2 1/2 story, 5-bay frame structure with a center entrance and interior end chimneys. The house faces in a northwesterly direction and has a small 1-story kitchen attached to its north-east end. The interior room arrangement consists of one room on either side of a center hall which contains the stair and a door at either end. The stair is open string with scroll decorated step-ends. It continues up to the third floor with a walnut hand-rail and round balusters. The newel-post on the first floor is heavy and turned in typical mid 19th century fashion. The original random width flooring has been covered on the first floor level with narrow pine boards. Other renovations made by the present owners include replacement of the plaster and rebuilding of the chimneys. Neither of the mantels on the first floor are original. In the living room a dentilled cornice mold has been added and the dining room now has a fine, oiled walnut wainscoting and panelling of the same wood on the chimney breast. The original door and window moldings are still in place. They are completely plain. The house is furnished with a number of family antiques.

The exterior wood siding has been covered with asbestos shingle. The windows have 6/6 pane sashes and ~~shutters~~ wooden shutters. There are three dormers with segmentally arched openings on either side of the roof. Several large English boxwood bushes in front of the house date from the mid-19th century. The smaller bushes have been grown from cuttings of the originals made by the present owner.

Another interesting feature of the garden is a small iron planter decorated with swags of iron flowers. It is believed to have been part of an 18th century water fountain from Annapolis.
